

Abnormal Cologuard Test Result? Act Fast!

Why you should schedule your follow-up colonoscopy now

Your life depends on it

Receive an abnormal result?
Schedule a colonoscopy in 3 to 6 months. If you don't follow up at all, you're twice as likely to die from colorectal cancer (CRC).

Don't delay

Waiting too long can lead to:

- A higher chance of getting colon cancer.
- Needing stronger or more difficult treatment.
- An increased risk of death.

90% Survival rate if caught early!

You're not too young

Roughly 13% of new CRC cases occur in patients under 50 years old.

Stop cancer before it starts

Your colonoscopy can remove polyps before they become cancerous.
